

Diesel Emissions Conference & AdBlue Forum Asia 2012

The 5th Diesel Emissions Conference in Asia is established as the region's leading independent event for the discussion of diesel emissions reduction technology and strategy for commercial vehicles and off-highway equipment.

The conference will bring together over 300 senior stakeholders to discuss the implementation of China IV including enforcement measures, optimum technology choice and crucial fuel quality and availability progress in China. It will also discuss the development of a strong AdBlue supply infrastructure in China, and the unique challenges facing the Asia market in using this technology. A must attend event for all diesel emissions stakeholders looking to plan for a profitable future in Asia.
