The forum

The future forum for petrol stations. An established forum being staged alongside UNITI expo, with dual streaming, in English and German.

An international trade fair for the downstream petroleum marketplace, designed by people who really understand what exhibitors need, is at the centre what makes UNITI expo so different. Working closely in this sector day after day, is what counts when putting together an event which appeals to everyone taking part. Experience is the key to making sure your investment in this new initiative, produces the benefits which most companies would generally expect from a major trade fair, allied to the industry sector who's interests they represent.

The trade exhibition with global opportunities

The world is getting smaller, the forecourt, car wash and logistics equipment market has truly become a global business over the last decades. In recognition of this, UNITI has formed alliances with international partners and global media representatives to address this dynamic and highly influential market place. UNITI expo comes together as a direct result of the collaboration with these innovative organisations:

- UNITI - Federal association of German fuel retailers
- erpecnews - International retail petroleum news digest
- PetrolPlaza - Leading global online information portal for the petrol retailing business
- erpec - The meeting place for oil companies retail petroleum organisations and international suppliers of retail petroleum and car wash equipment
