TLM Technologies, a MADIC group company, launches Forecourt Equipment Service for fuel and convenience sector.

Founded in 2010 in Bedford, England, TLM is a technology company that provides a complete solution for fuel and convenience retailers globally: Offering a full suite of applications (evolution) to optimise the operation of both forecourt and c-store.

TLM's technology and support includes EPOS, back-office, head office and now Forecourt Equipment Services.

"Combining TLM's forecourt Service experience in the UK with Madic's partner supply network puts us in a unique position to deliver an excellent software, hardware equipment and service to forecourt traders across the UK."

TLM have a team of over 100 employees and over 2,000 sites on direct support. It is one of the biggest and healthiest service suppliers in the UK forecourt and convenience marketplace.

Following the acquisition by the French industrial group MADIC, who have forecourt services at the core of their business, TLM has invested heavily in preparing to launch this comprehensive service and support - covering every aspect of the forecourt operation.

Since MADIC group acquired TLM in March 2019 they have been keen to introduce Forecourt Equipment Services in the UK. MADIC group CEO Fabrice Chapalin says.
