

Cepsa & Santander launch a new credit card in Spain

Cepsa & Santander have joined forces to offer the new Santander Advance Cepsa credit card to businesses and the self-employed. The card will allow them to make all types of business transactions.

The aim is to provide flexible, safe and innovative solutions fulfilling the needs of both businesses and self-employed workers.

With this new form of payment, both organisations are providing these groups the best solutions to control their business expenses, an important saving of between 3 to 6.6% on fuel purchases at Cepsa service stations in Spain, and simplification of the administrative management of their indirect taxes.

Santander Advance Cepsa also gives customers greater flexibility when it comes to managing their finances, as it offers cardholders two means of payment: either in full at the end of each month (with no interest), or deferred.

Professionals and businesses that use it will have access to Cepsa's electronic billing service, which enables customers to manage deductions of VAT on their periodic tax assessments. A single monthly bill will be issued, which customers will be able to access online.