

NSC - U.S. National Safety Council

The nation's leading safety advocate for more than 100 years, the National Safety Council is a nonprofit organization with the mission of eliminating preventable deaths at work, in homes and communities, and on the road through leadership, research, education and advocacy. NSC advances this mission by engaging businesses, government agencies, elected officials and the public to help prevent the third leading cause of death in the U.S. – preventable injuries.

Driven by data, NSC produces Injury Facts – an annual online compilation of statistics on unintentional deaths and injuries. To make the greatest impact, the Council focuses on opioid misuse and overdose, defensive and attentive driving, automotive technology advancements, teen safety, worker safety and fatigue.

NSC is the trusted source of occupational safety information and resources. Through NSC Workplace 360, the Council helps organizations advance from safety compliance to best practices through a wide range of workplace training and consulting services. Organizations become National Safety Council members to receive the latest safety information, trends, practical solutions and tools to eliminate preventable injuries and deaths in their workplace. NSC helps the safety professional champion safety through research, networking, awards and education, including the advanced safety certificate. The Campbell Institute at NSC is the global center of excellence for environmental health and safety.
